The information within these pages are recorded for the purpose of providing a direct link between the families of the VAN BLARICOM and the JASMIN family line which begins in America in 1634 in the New York/New Jersey area and who traveled across the United States and settled in the Nehalem Valley, in and around Vernonia, Oregon in 1873-74.

In researching our Van Blaricom name, several different spellings have been found related to the same family group: Blerkum; Blaricun, Blarcum, Blarcom, Blercum, Blarigan, Blaralam.

The earliest known Church record that could be located of the surname use of Van Blaricom was the marriage record of Jan Lubbertson;s son, Johannes Janse in 1693. It was apparently not used again as a surname until 1706, at which time, it rapidly became the surname of all family members. Bergen NJ Church records show Johannes married Metje Jans, 6 November 1693.

Melvin Jasmin's particular generation line, for Van Blaricom, is as follows, starting with 1st Generation thru the 11th; (within the United States of America)

On the cover of this narrative you see the Coat of Arms of the Blaricum Family, who live in and around Blaricum, Netherlands, Holland and the Jasmin family in the USA. It is quite apparent we cannot claim the Coat of Arms of Blaricum as our own because we actually originated from Lubbert Gysbertsen of Blaricum. But it does depict the place we began our genealogy search and is part of our lives forever and we can, at least, borrow its' tradition and display its' meaning and hopefully, follow its' Motto, "Stick to the Truth". With regards to the description of the family coat of arms of the Blaricum family, in a publication by FJH Banning Genealogie Van het geslacht Van Blaricum, it is described as "blue with three silver balls and a helmet symbol and a six pointed star, on top of which is one silver ball". The description of the flag of Blaricum is a little more clear. The City coat of arms is, "in silver, a pulled out cornflower plant with three flowers of lazur, (or violet-blue), the stem and a root of sinopel.", as shown here; Remember that the area where the Town of Blaricum is located was all farming and cattle and, for the most part, is today. The coat of arms for surrounding towns in the area are a reminder of it's Agrarian past.

The Heraldic Arms of the House of Jasmin originated in the year, 1953 in Multnomah County, State of Oregon, United States of America. As I am a citizen of the U.S.A. and not subject to Armorial rules from other Countries I am breaking no laws or traditions by making my own personal Family Coat of Arms. My arms are derived from symbols that incorporate Religion, Esteem and Country. The ornamental plant of the Olive family, with its fragrant white or yellow flowers, known as the Jasmine, is the flower used to depict the Jasmin family on it's black shield. Top of the Shield is a side view of a helmet in yellow or gold depicting no title but, esquire. (All symbols are in yellow or gold) The Cross depicts the family's belief in God and the Sword depicts Honor in the family and the Eagle depicts the Birth place of the Jasmin group of these arms, America. The Supporters at either side of the shield are winged gargoyles carried over from medieval Europe. The scroll at the bottom of the arms is the Motto: "God, Honor & Country", in English language. By following general tradition, the arms can and will be handed down to those in the Jasmin family, (and/or connected to), who wish to carry it on, by adding some symbol or mark to the original Arms, which then modifies the arms to their own personal family "Coat-of-Arms", and still within the Jasmin line.

Note: As this Genealogy line is an on-going progress, observe the front cover of the booklet for latest update.

VANBLARICOM FAMILY

Father and mother of our 1st Generation was Gysbert Jansen Lubbertsen born near Blaricum, Netherlands/Holland ,1558. (Died 1607)Anne Jacobse Enchunje born in North Holland District, Gooiland, near Blaricum in 1573. (Died 30 August 1605 at Huisinge Groningen, Netherlands)...The couple married in 1600. Parents were Jacob Jansen Lubbertsen and Anne Jacobse

First Generation, in America: Lubbert Gijsbertsz, (Gysbertzen), (Gijsbertsen), was born in 1601 near Blaricum, a Town located twelve miles South East of Amsterdam, in the District called, Gooiland. Lubbert married Divertje Cornelis in Blaricum, 1623 in Debeemster Noord Holland, Netherlands. Divertje was born in 1603. Her Father was Pieter Cornelius born 1580 in Breille, Amsterdam, North Holland Netherlands. Her Mother was Divertje who was born in 1584 in Breille. Records indicate Lubbert died in late October 1655, during Indian raids at Bergen Neck, New Jersey, at the age of 55 years. Divertje died 11 December 1681 in New Amersterdam, New York

Lubbert was 33 years old when in Amsterdam, on 15 April 1634 he signed a contract with the "Patroon of Rensselaerwyck in New Netherland", (located on both banks of the Hudson river near Fort Orange – now Albany New York), "to betake himself with his wife and family, (three children), at his own expense", the Patroon to pay expenses to the West Indian Company for passage on the ship, de Eendracht, (The Unity), being made ready to sail to New Netherland.

Lubbert's contract provided for reimbursement of these expenses over a three years period working at his trade as a "rademaecker", (a wheelwright and wagon maker), which was to begin upon his arrival in America. Thus, in July of 1634, Lubbert, his wife, Divertje Cornelis, Dierber, their eldest son, Gysbert, (who was 10 years old), Thys, (who was 6 years old), and Jan, (who was 1 and a half years old), came to America to start a new life.

Lubbert stayed working at Rensselaerwyck ten years beyond his original 3 year contract. He and his family lived on a farm at Bethlehem, just South of Albany, NY on the West side of the Hudson River. Records show on 5 December 1654, he was given a Dutch patent for fifty morgens, (100 acres), of land on Bergen Neck, below Cavin Point – now in Green Ville area, South of Jersey City, N.J..

In October 1655, during a three day period of Indian attacks, Lubbert was killed, along with at least fifty other people. More than a hundred – mostly women and children – were captured. Later, at great expense, about seventy of these people were ransomed. Also during these raids on New Amsterdam, and also in the Dutch bouweries and plantations across the Hudson River, 12-15 thousand schepels of grain were burned, 500-600 head of cattle were either killed or made off with and more than 200 persons, besides those killed or captured, lost all their possessions. It is noted, the Indians attacked the region at the same time the Dutch soldiers were away on the Delaware fighting the Swedes!

Records show Lubbert's widow, Divertje married Jan Arentszen Van derbilt, in May 1658. Jan was born 1627 in Bilt, Utrecht, The Netherlands. Jan and Divertje lived on Long Island at or near Midwout, (Flatbush), sometime prior to December 1681. Jan died February 1705 at Bergen, New Jersey. Divertje died 11 December 1680 in Flatbush, New Amsterdam. They had one child. Jacob Janse Vanderbilt unknown date of birth or deceased. Information indicates Jacob married Mary Vandervliet and they had five children.

Lubbert and Divertje have seven children record

Second Generation; Jan Lubbertsen, (also known as Johannes Lubberts), born in 1632 at Edam, a seaport town on the IJsselmeer, about 12 miles North of Amsterdam. Jan, who came to America at one and a half years. Married Magdaleentje Theunis Van Voorsthuysen on 7 June 1659 in the New Amsterdam Church. Magdaleentje was born in Huisen, a seaport town near Blaricum in Gooiland, Noordt Holland in 1636. She is known to have sailed from the Netherlands on 12 February 1659 in the ship "de Trouw", (The Faith), and was listed in the record as Magdalentje Teunis from Voorhuysen. She died 4 September 1711 at Bergen. Jan died in 1734 in N.J.

Jan received a Dutch patent granting him 25 morgens of land on Bergens Neck in 1654. On 14 April 1657, Jan was granted small "Burger" rights in New Amsterdam. Sometime in 1659 Jan sold his Bergen Neck land and obtained land near the Village of Bergen. In 1693 Jan gained the title of Captain. Perhaps it was because he was one of six Commissioners appointed to fortify Bergen Village, by building four block houses – one at each entrance to the village.

The English took control of the New Netherland area for the first time in 1664. On 12 May 1668, Jan was given English confirmatory land patents by Governor Carteret. He had lots 4 and 5 in the town of Bergen, (a plot of 16 1/2 acres on the West side of present Westside avenue, not far South of Stuyvesant avenue and South West of Bergen Square in Jersey City). He also had 9 1/2 acre woodlot between Bergen avenue and Westside avenue, a little south of Communipaw avenue. He also had outlying lands of 25 acres in present Union City, and a plot of unknown acreage on the Hackensack River area, not far from where the river enters into Newark Bay.

Pieter lived near Wyckoff but he resided within the jurisdiction of the Hackensack Reformed Church and his Estate was administered in Essex County. These facts point to a home in the area of the present Hawthorne, south of Wyckoff. John VanBlarom Jr., the eldest son, was appointed administrator of Pieter's Estate 31 March 1749. Pieter first married to Elizabeth Symons "Van Uythse", 22 June 1685 at Bergen. His wife apparently came from the

In 1804, Samuel, his wife and family, and Mary Ann's parents all moved on to Ohio. Samuel and family settled about one mile East from where the Strasser's settled, in Colerain Township, Ross County – near Adelphi. (Samuel was located in the 1816,17,18 Tax records of Hocking County, Ohio).

Seventh Generation: John Van Blaricom Sr was born at Ross County, Ohio and is considered the Patron (or leader) of the VanBlaricom clan that moved West in 1872 and settled the Nehalem Valley in Oregon.

John Sr and his wife, Nancy (McNamer), whom John married June 3 1830 in Shelby County, Ohio, moved from Ohio in 1843 to Indiana. In 1856-57, John, his wife Nancy and most of his family moved on from Indiana to Iowa, then to Minn.,. In the spring of 1871, with his wife and several son's and their families, and a few un-married son's, John left Minn., with ox teams and covered wagons toward the West!

Their trip was long and hard. At one point, in Nebraska, the clan were forced to charter box cars and travel by train with their wagons and oxen to avoid the danger of Indian attacks in the area. There were however, highlights along the way that would never be forgotten and would be talked about until their dying day!, such as in Omaha, Nebraska when the VanBlaricoms saw their first Circus.

After several months the group reached the area of Walla Walla, in Washington Territory, where they decided to winter. They took land and in the Spring, planted crops. They were nearly ready for harvest when millions of crickets appeared and moving in endless waves across the mighty grain fields, ate until every spear was gone. It was devastating to see. As far as the eye could see was nothing but barren land.!

The Walla Walla area is also where John Sr lost his wife Nancy. She died in late 1872 and was buried. Shortly thereafter, in the Spring of 1873, the clan moved onto the Alsea Valley area in Oregon.

In the fall of 1873 the family moved onto Mountindale near Hillsboro, Oregon and wintered there. John's son, Henry, and his family, were the first of the Van Blaricoms to move into the Vernonia area. Later, John Sr, four son's and two daughter and their families all came to settle in the Vernonia area also.

On Saturday, 30 December 1890, about 4:00 am John Van Blaricom Sr., passed away. The Nehalem Journal Newspaper wrote: "Saturday about 4am, the spirit of John VanBlaricom Sr., was freed from its mortal casement and the troubles and woes, the pleasures and happiness of a long and eventful life was over. Mr Van Blaricom was among the first to take up land in this part of the Valley. Hi upright and manly life has made him innumerable friends who will be deeply pained to learn of his death. The deceased leaves a large family of grown-up son's and daughters to mourn his loss". "At the time of his death he was living with his son Joseph whom he has made his home for some time. For many months the old gentleman's health has been failing and it was evident for a number of days that dissolution was eminent. His death was painless and his features after death were most natural.

John Van Blaricom was born in Ross County, Ohio, one mile from Adelphia, in 1805. In 1843 he moved to Indiana, from there to Iowa, next to Minnesota and then to Columbia County, in Washington Territory, (near Walla Walla) where he buried his wife in her 62nd year. They were both members of the United Brethern Church ." "His last removal was to Oregon where he settled in the Nehalen Valley in 1874 and resided here until his death in his 86th year"

"John was the father of thirteen children, of who seven survive. All are residents of the Valley except tw, Henry Van Blaricom and Mrs Ida Mays, who reside in Cowlitz, Washington State". The above mentioned obituary was titled "Death of a Pioneer". It is interesting to note, when John and his family came into the Nehalen Valley, there were no roads to speak of. To travel to Vernonia, they came by way of Mountain Dale, past Quicks Mill, up over Green Mountain to Pebble Creek, then down to the Nehalem River. There was a State road of sorts, built in 1873-4 from Meechams to Green Mountain Spring but, from there on it was by pack horse. John and Nancy have thirteen children recorded: Joseph, born in 1833 in Shelby City, Ohio. Joseph apparently never married. He took up land of what is now today, the major portion of downtown Vernonia, (section 4-4-4). He built the first house in the City, using "sawed" boards, in 1890. The house was located on North Street. Joseph was known as the founder and former owner of Vernonia. Henry D, born 23 March 1836 in Shelby City, Ohio. He died 15 August 1904 at Hood River, Washington. Henry married Catherine Gehring in 1860 in Lesuer County, Minnesota. Catherine Gehring was born 2 April 1843 in Pennsylvania. She died in November 1939 in Vernonia, Oregon. Catherine's parents were Jacob and Eva Byrd..

Note: Henry acted as an Indian Scout for several wagon trains.

1. John Jr, born in 1839 in Shelby City, Ohio. John married Julia Parker. Both resided in Portland, OR.
2. Drusilla, born in 1847 in Indiana. She married Frank Baker in Vernonia, Oregon. (Frank later became Vernonia's first Post Master). Frank and Drusilla took up land in Vernonia where the High School stands today.
3. Phillip, born in 1832 in Shelby City, Ohio. Prior to moving on to Oregon, Phillip married Hannah S. Bennett in Minnesota. Phillip and Hannah had three children; Harve, born in 1866 in Minnesota and Anna, born 6 April 1869. A 3rd child, Lily, was born in Vernonia, OR. Phillip took up land up the Nehalem River near Mist< Oregon, which is about six miles South of Vernonia. It is noted that daughter Anna married Hans Christensen on 18 October 1885, in Dufur, OR. * (See notation at end of history)
4. Hiram, born in Indiana in 1855, moved with a large family group to the Vernonia area in 1873/74. Hiram married Ida May Vaughn. They took up land up Rock Creek and also in Vernonia, (section 34-5-4). Hiram built the first hotel in Vernonia, in 1925, which is still standing at this update. (His daughter, Myrtal was born at their homestead in Vernonia).
5. Joe, born in Indiana.
6. Sarah Ann, born in Indiana. She married Saul Sheeley of Vernonia, Oregon. They took up land in Vernonia.

7.Nancy, born in Ohio

Unable to date to locate records on Samuel, Emma and three other children.

Eighth Generation, Henry D VanBlaricom and his wife, Catherine were the first of the VanBlaricoms to settle the Vernonia area. They took up land in Vernonia in section 34-5-6. (In 1982 it was known as the Guy Thomas property). (In the photo section you will see Henry and his family).

Henry and Catherine had six children recorded:

1.Emeline, born 26 June 1861 in Lesuer, Minnesota. She later married Judson Weed in Vernonia, Oregon.

2.Lawrence, born 7 August 1863 in Lesuer, Minnesota. (Record shows he died 12 January 1939).
